The Ohio Department of Insurance offers a free speakers' bureau. This service provides speakers and programs to civic groups, service clubs, and other community organizations. Our speakers make professional presentations to groups about important matters like:

- Life insurance
- Health insurance
- Automobile insurance
- Home/renter's insurance
- Annuity contracts
- Long-term care insurance
- Medicare supplement insurance and other health care plans that work with Medicare

At your request, we will customize a program to meet the specific needs of your group. We will also provide outreach activities at trade shows, health fairs, seminars and other special events.

Speakers:

All speakers that present to community groups are insurance experts employed by the Ohio Department of Insurance. Our primary responsibility is helping individual consumers with insurance related problems, but we also educate Ohio residents on the insurance issues that affect their lives.

Our speakers have years of experience working in the insurance industry and helping people with difficult insurance matters. Their presentation skills can work for any program and any size audience.

Location:

The Department of Insurance office is in Columbus. Our central location allows us to schedule trips to any Ohio community. From Cleveland to Cincinnati to Toledo to Marietta, our speakers are ready to come to you!

Our speakers are available for almost any meeting time — mornings, afternoons or evenings. We work to accommodate every schedule. But calling well in advance of your meeting date will help ensure that a speaker is available to attend. You can schedule a presentation as much as six months in advance of your meeting date.
